MEMBERS' MEMORIES

Michelle Stewart

Some of the best memories were of the tally rallies, particularly the ones at Don and Martha Waugh's. One year Martha had agreed to host the rally and had forgotten that she had bought Don tickets to one of his favorite performers that same night. She asked if I could "babysit" the dinner, so to speak, rather than cancel. As a neighbor, this was easy. I just showed up as she finished baking the first lasagna (usual fare) and they left for the performance. Martha had done almost all the work so filling in was easy and a pleasure. All went as planned and things were wrapped up when they came home from their outing. The tally rallies and also the Christmas Carol nights they used to host with Martha playing the piano were always a real pleasure.
